³² Venice Commission Final Decision 824/2015 Paragraph 32; suggests regulating the roles of the Minister of Justice. This is a political decision. One suggestion is to add the following to the end of this paragraph: "with the exception of the management of the information technology structure of the courts, which is directed by the Minister of Justice." A similar change could be made under Article 149/a, giving the Minister of Justice a role in managing a common IT system. This is a common practice in many EU countries.

As a norm, only questions that are ripe for constitutional review (i.e. decided on the merits on the face of evidence by another body) should be submitted for review by CC. This means that the disciplinary decision should rather be taken by another body, and only complaints thereon ought to be reviewed by the CC. However, if the ad hoc committee resolves to go back to the old composition of the JAC (the one with ex officio membership), it would only take a cut and paste exercise without any implications in the rest of the text.
